PIE Workshops (Choose one)

Elder Training – The role of the elder and session is unlike that of any other governing body. This workshop will explore practical and spiritual topics of church leadership for today and for the future.

Led by the Rev. Dr. Peggy Hinds, professional congregational and leadership coach. Peggy has taught elder workshops for several presbyteries and at PCUSA's Big Tent. Along with coaching, Peggy serves as a transitional pastor and consultant.

Deacon Training –This workshop will help you learn ways to grow community, compassion, and witness in the deacon ministry, in ways both great and small.

Led by the Rev. Charles “Chip” Hardwick, Interim Executive for the Synod of the Covenant

Clerk Training – This workshop offers tools, methods, tricks of the trade and resources for clerks of sessions

Led by Jim Wilson, Clerk of Session from Columbus Broad Street Presbyterian Church

Faith Practice Toolkit - The practices of Hospitality, Prayer, Service, Storytelling, and Retreat in your faith community offer a means to connect the different life stages in life-long formation and cultivate intergenerational community. We will explore these practices and how to engage with them in your congregation, especially in the upcoming season of Lent. A toolkit for each participant will be provided.

Led by Stephanie Fritz -Mission Coordinator for Christian Formation in the Presbyterian Mission Agency, PC(USA)

Clergy Self-Care -This workshop will not only offer ways for pastors to practice self-care, but to help shift their mindset and intention to make self-care an integral and essential part of their ministry.

Led by the Rev. Anne Russ – An ordained pastor in the Presbyterian Church (USA) who has as a solo pastor for over 15 years and learned the hard way how to take radically good care of herself. She has created an online faith community called Doubting Believer and currently lives in New York City.

All workshops are offered both days, but you may attend both times if you'd like to take two workshops. We hope to record the events.

The event is FREE, but please register at the link on www.psvonline.org
