

WHAT IS THE SELF-DEVELOPMENT COMMUNITY GRANT?

The Self-Development of People (SDOP) program of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) provides small “start-up” grants to informal community groups of seven or more members. Grants may range up to $2000.

SDOP grants are designed for informal community groups of seven or more whose members are financially underserved and function as self-governing units seeking to improve their own well-being and empowerment.

Goals of the Grant

- to organize with others to make change
- to design and produce long term changes in their lives
- to support the SDOP core strategies; promoting justice, build solidarity, advance human dignity, and advocate for economic equity
- ensure that project members own and benefit directly

Grant Guidelines

- Group members must be from economically or socially underserved communities.
- Group seeks a grant to empower members in a shared concern or project.
- Group must have seven or more individuals with a common interest in addressing economic or social justice issues.

What Should Your Proposal Say?

Describe in detail its goals, the purpose of the project, its objectives and the specific steps the group will take to accomplish the goals. Group members must outline how they will be involved in all stages of the project, and the methods to be used in achieving goals and objectives. It must also specify how those methods align with the SDOP core strategies.

Describe fully the resources in your community of individuals and organizations known to be available to support your project. Indicate any in-kind or other financial resources. Complete form of a balanced income and expenditure budget, listing expected income and expenditures over the funding term of the project.

Be responsible for determining what evaluation will be used at the end of the project. Proposal must honor the SDOP Core Strategies of Promoting Justice, Building stronger communities and seeking economic equity.

Previously Funded Projects

SDOP Hilltop Highland Youth Garden

SDOP Hilltop Highland Youth Garden offers a diverse, hands-on learning environment for children, giving them the space and guidance to grow their own food. They work with over 350 students a year, and our half-acre garden grows over 3,000 pounds of food annually, all of which is offered to Hilltop neighbors. Westside teens are employed throughout the year to learn gardening, community outreach and leadership skills.

Capital Park Women's Empowerment

The Sewing Cooperative at Capital Park, a community group of refugee Somali women came together to determine how they could move beyond low-paying jobs because of their limited English. They decided upon becoming master seamstresses leading to designing, producing and marketing ethnic designer bags. They marketed their products at summer festivals, contracted with conference groups. They partnered with a brick and mortar international store in Columbus to sell their bags.

Franklin County Youth Council

The Franklin County Youth Council was awarded for a virtual youth movement involving middle and high school students. During the event, they shared the history of the Franklin County Youth Council and hosted three workshops regarding financial literacy, generational wealth, social media, academic success, and surviving Covid-19. The grant was used to cover the cost of advertising, facilitator's training, and incentives for the youth facilitators.

Mid-Ohio Workers Association

Mid-Ohio Workers Association Franklin County Workers Benefit Council was awarded a grant to assist its project members and other community residents with training/developing leadership skills. This group has been involved in learning advocacy issues to address housing, eviction and utility concerns.
